Note: For simplification purposes on this map, the term “Bioretention” means one of several options: bioretention swale, bioretention swale with check dams, and biofiltration swales. The type and size of the facility at each location will be dictated by the site constraints.
Note: For simplification purposes on this map, the term "Bioretention" means one of several options: bioretention swale, bioretention swale with check dams, and biofiltration swales. The type and size of the facility at each location will be dictated by the site constraints.
Note: For simplification purposes on this map, the term "Bioretention" means one of several options: bioretention swale, bioretention swale with check dams, and biofiltration swales. The type and size of the facility at each location will be dictated by the site constraints.